San Francisco, CA

(415) 656-1490 (Home)

jshobbssocal@gmail.com

Jeff Hobbs

linkedin.com/in/jeffhobbsdev

github.com/jshobbs

jeffhobbsonline.com

Technical Skills	Strong: Java JSE, JavaScript, HTML5, CSS
	Experienced: Bootstrap, Java JEE, GIT, Eclipse, NetBeans
	Basic: REST, Maven, Spring, Hibernate, JQuery, AngularJS, Oracle, MySQL

Projects JEE web application utilizing REST, Maven, Spring, and Hibernate on a Tomcat server.

Engineering Experience

Gnostech (www.gnostech.com)   San Diego, CA 2001 – Present

System Engineer

- Responsible for designing applications, writing, and debugging code in accordance with company SDLC policies.
- Use Java SE with JavaFX to provide UI for remote scanning Information Assurance (IA) product for U.S. Navy.
- Created JEE web application prototype to replace current client IA application.
- Implement MVC Framework for all Java projects.
- Perform JUnit unit tests on code development using Ant to build the project.
- Utilize Eclipse plugin FindBugs to check code for potential bugs.
- Reviewed code and FindBugs results of other team members.
- Test code changes in virtualized environment before submitting pull request.
- Incorporated Oracle 10G and MySQL databases in N-tier applications.
- Designed normalized Oracle 10G database for N-tier application.
- Performed ETL tasks to aggregate data or remove duplicate records.
- Used C++ to add new features to the Advanced Global Navigation System (AGNS) GPS simulation project.
- Improved and standardized the AGNS UI with tools from Visual C++.

Pacific Bell (www.att.com)   San Diego, CA 2000 – 2001

Student Manager (Internship)

- Wrote scripts to automate steps for checking for server uptime.
- Maintained Microsoft Access database records for responsible group and contact information on all system critical servers.
- Worked with others remotely to correct missing or incorrect database data.

Education

Udacity   In Progress
Front-End Web Developer Nanodegree

Keller Graduate School of Management   June 2009
Master of Science in IS Management

San Diego State University   May 2001
Bachelor of Science in Computer Science

Interests Traveling, scuba diving, skiing, snowboarding, and investing.